Hi Bill,

Attached is a set of files to print out the big "tablecloth figure" (info update and proposed phase II boring locations) in AutoCAD. Files are also included to print out the transducer data. These are the figures that I used during our 1/5/06 meeting with some updates/mods. reflecting discussion during the meeting, and adding more to the legend to make them more self explanatory. The transducer file is on this e-mail and the tablecloth is on the next, due to file size.

I have sent 7 copies of the transducer figure and 4 copies of the tablecloth out fed ex to you Bill. I intended to send you 7 of the tablecloth figure, but couldn't even get the 5th figure printed and still make FED EX (latest time we can drop off a package is 8:00 and it is located 25 miles away). These figures take a lot of time to print out, even once they are all sent. Will send out the remaining copies tomorrow. Hope the 4 are enough for now. You could always print out some copies there with the attached files.
