Mr. Johnny Eads, Project Manager
Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC)

Washington, DC 20555-0001

Dear Chairman Diaz and Mr. Eads:

At their January 18, 2006 meeting, the Plymouth Board of Selectmen voted unanimously to request that the Nuclear Regulatory Commission ("NRC") deny Entergy's request for a joint review of their Pilgrim (Plymouth, MA) and Vermont Yankee (Brattleboro, VT) nuclear power plant re-licensure applications.

We join with our state and federal legislative delegations and Governor Romney in making this request as we all believe that a separate review is in the best interest of our community. As the host community for Pilgrim, we believe that it is essential for the Plymouth based NRC safety and environmental review teams to focus on those characteristics specific and unique to Pilgrim.

Our local officials appreciated meeting with representatives of the NRC in Plymouth on January 12, 2006 to discuss the re-licensing process. It was during that discussion that the NRC explained that certain efficiencies might be gained through a joint application review. Although we appreciate that certain efficiencies may be gained through such a process, it is our belief that the benefits of a separate review out-weigh those potential efficiencies. And as this issue affects both Plymouth and the surrounding region, we believe a separate review is necessary.

Thank you, in advance, for your consideration of this request. I can be reached directly at (508) 747-1620 x104 with any questions you may have regarding this correspondence.

Sincerely,

Mark D. Sylvia

Dear Mr. Sylvia:

On behalf of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), I am responding to your letter of January 18, 2006, concerning NRC's review of the license renewal applications for the Pilgrim Nuclear Power Station (NPS) of Plymouth, Massachusetts, and the Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Plant (NPP) of Vernon, Vermont. In your letter, you requested that the NRC deny Entergy Corporation's request to merge the proceedings into one review process, so that the NRC staff could fully assess the specific characteristics of each plant individually.

There appears to be some mis-communication about Entergy submitting a joint application for license renewal for the two plants. In fact, separate license renewal applications were submitted by letters dated January 25, 2006. The applications will be reviewed based on the content of the separate submittals and separate evaluations will be issued by the NRC. The NRC will fully assess the specific characteristics of each plant on an individual basis to determine if the plant can safely operate for an additional twenty years past its current license expiration date. The reviews conducted by the NRC may involve some of the same subject matter experts to ensure that the NRC actions are effective, efficient, realistic, and timely. The review process will include separate notices of the opportunity for a hearing on each application.

The NRC has established clear requirements, codified in Title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations Parts 51 and 54, to assure safe plant operation for extended plant life. The NRC also follows an established license renewal application review process to guide the staff's evaluation of an applicant's compliance with license renewal requirements. This process includes opportunities for public involvement. The NRC staff conducts a thorough review of each license renewal application and prepares a safety evaluation report and environmental impact statement to document the results of each review. During these reviews, the NRC implements a license renewal inspection program to verify that applicants meet these regulations and have implemented license renewal programs and activities consistent with their applications for license renewal. In addition, the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards (ACRS) conducts an independent review of each safety evaluation report before making a recommendation to the Commission. Established by Congress in 1957, the ACRS is a body of experts representing diverse technical perspectives that is independent of the staff and reports directly to the Commission. The ACRS reviews are conducted in public meetings. I hope this information addresses your concern. If you have any further questions, please contact Mr. Frank Gillespie, Director, Division of License Renewal at 301-415-1183.

Sincerely,

/RA/
