Based on our review of the response to RAI 3.8-25 and the NASTRAN model during the structural audit in July, we have identified the following additional concern:

How are the forces on the anchors determined if 1/10,000 E is used in the model for the liner? Is the calculated force multiplied by 10,000?

Please address this in the revised response to RAI 3.8-25. Please contact me if you would like to discuss this.

Thanks, Larry
