Ladies and Gentlemen:

DOCKET NUMBER 50-483
CALLAWAY PLANT UNIT 1
UNION ELECTRIC CO.
FACILITY OPERATING LICENSE NPF-30
ADDITIONAL INFORMATION REGARDING APPLICATION
FOR LICENSE AMENDMENT TO REVISE TECHNICAL
SPECIFICATION 5.6.6; REACTOR COOLANT SYSTEM (RCS)
PRESSURE AND TEMPERATURE LIMITS REPORT (PTLR)

References: (1) Letter from AmerenUE to NRC, "Application for License Amendment to Revise Technical Specification 5.6.6; Reactor Coolant System (RCS) Pressure and Temperature Limits Report (PTLR)", ULNRC-05315 dated September 20, 2006

This letter provides additional information regarding Callaway Plant's "Application for License Amendment to Revise Technical Specification 5.6.6; Reactor Coolant System (RCS) Pressure and Temperature Limits Report (PTLR)", ULNRC-05315 dated September 20, 2006. The NRC requested this information in recent discussions. The responses to two questions are provided below.

The document in Technical Specification (TS) section 5.6.6.b.1, NRC letter, CALLAWAY PLANT, UNIT 1 – ISSUANCE OF AMENDMENT RE: PRESSURE AND TEMPERATURE LIMITS REPORT (TAC NOS. MA5631 and MA7287), dated March 24, 2000 is being removed because it is not needed in TS. This document is not needed to define the approved methodology.

The purpose of this amendment request is not to adopt Revision 4 of WCAP 14040. The request is to adopt TSTF-419, which removes the revision number and date from the topical report reference.

A001

When we adopt future NRC approved methodologies, we will be required to meet all requirements specified in the NRC approving document. Those requirements will, in fact, be part of the approved methodology.

This additional information addresses all questions raised. If there are any additional questions, please contact Dave Shafer (314) 554-3104.

This letter does not contain any new or revised commitments.

I state under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Sincerely,

Executed on: November 20, 2006
