Mike,

There is no flat application fee for a Class II Facility (ISL) Source Materials license. Hourly fees to process and review the application and other work related to the licensing action are fully recoverable (10 CFR 170.31). These fees, which are billed quarterly, include work performed by the NRC and its contractors (e.g., some part of the NEPA analysis will likely be performed by a contractor). The current hourly rate is $214/hr.

Once you receive a Source Materials License, you are subject to an annual fee on the anniversary of your licensing date. The current annual fee for ISL facilities is $65,000.

With respect to road construction, I am not aware of any specific NRC regulations/requirements concerning road construction. It should be noted, however, that the impact of expected road construction within the permit boundary will be evaluated as part of the NEPA process.

Give me a call if you need more info.

Hello Paul,

I have a couple of question for you. First of all, what are the fees involved for submitting our license application and when are the fees due? The second question regards road upgrading. Are there specific requirements of the NRC for how a road needs to be constructed regarding hauling loaded resin? Currently the DEQ has some requirements, but I wanted to check with you to see if the NRC has its own set of requirements.

Thanks,

Mike
