Dear Carlotta,

Please see the attached document provided by Westway.

The document identifies their client as China Jianzhong Nuclear Fuel Corporation and the end users as Qinshan Phase II Nuclear Power Plant and Lingdong Nuclear Power Plant. Please let us know if any other information is required. We will be glad to assist.

Westway asked us to provide this document (attached) to the USNRC for review to see if it could be regarded as "assurance" from the Chinese Government once the document is completed. Thank you in advance for your assistance with this request.

Westway also stated that the dollar value on the End User and End Use statement (same attachment) will be higher than the purchase price from Precision Electronic Glass. The price shown on the document will be their price to their customer which Westway has added value for profit and Chinese importer charges. Please let us know if this will be acceptable. Thank you for your help.

Thank you again for your attention in this matter. It is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Mark

Re: NRC Form 7

Dear Deputy Director,

Our company Precision Electronic Glass, Inc. is applying for an export license to provide Westway Technologies of Beijing China precision borosilicate glass tubing used to control reaction rates in nuclear reactors.

Please find the enclosed NRC Form 7, our customers Product Specification document and check made payable to the US Nuclear Regulatory Commission for $2,600.00 for the export license fee. Mr. Stephen Dembek of the US NRC advised our particular product falls under Schedule of Fees 170.21, section K, number 3, application – new license.

If there are any questions after review of our application, please do not hesitate to contact me or Domenic Ciancarelli, our Secretary Treasurer.

Sincerely,

Mark Andrews

Dear Ms. Coates,

Thank you for your reply to our application for an export license to provide Westway Technologies of Beijing China precision borosilicate glass tubing used to control reaction rates in nuclear reactors.

Yes, it is the case that the borosilicate glass tubing is a part of or comes in direct contact with a reactor's primary coolant system.

Please advise if the application we provided and the fee accompanying the application are what is required to proceed. If any other documentation is needed from us or the recipient in China, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Thank you again for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Domenic Ciancarelli
