I wish to comment on the petition for rulemaking filed by Sally Shaw published in the Federal register 11.20.06. Specifically, I believe that the National Academy of Sciences' BEIR VII findings should be considered in any and all license renewal procedures for nuclear power plants. Most notably, the most vulnerable members of our population (infants, children, females) ought to be held as the measure of radiation risk. To use the "standard man" criterion is unscientific, dishonest, and immoral. Also, the health impacts or radiation that is inhaled or ingested must be taken into account.

Thank you.
