NRC,

I am submitting public comment in support of building an irradiator next to the Honolulu International Airport. As a resident living close to the suggested building site, I support the building of an irradiator adjacent to the Honolulu Airport and believe the project should be allowed to go forward.

I live in Aiea, which is a few miles from the Honolulu Airport on Oahu. I agree with the findings of the draft environmental assessment. that no significant environmental impact will occur from the facility. I am not worried that the cobalt 60 poses a danger. I have read information that suggests the facility poses a serious threat and hazardous risk, I do not agree with that viewpoint. I do not believe that a full environmental impact statement is needed, the evaluation conducted already provides enough information on potential safety impact and environmental impacts to make a determination for the site and proposed facility.

Irradiation of food is used for many positive purposes. I fully support use of irradiation for control of insect and disease pests so fruits, vegetables, and other food products grown in Hawaii can be shipped to locations on the US mainland and to other countries.

I do not believe the facility poses a risk to local residents and agree with the assessment that no significant environmental impact will occur from the facility, and no environmental impact statement is needed.
