Summary: The licensee called me to request an expedited review of their request to add a new facility to their license. He stated that because of loss of lease, they have been forced to move from their facility in Edison, NJ, and the storage location in Edison is to be removed from the license and the new facility is to be added. The mailing address is also to be changed. I asked him if they have already moved the material to the new facility. He stated that they have transferred their gauges to their other facility in Pennsylvania, that is listed on the license.

I reviewed the letter and requested that he review the leak test records to see if there was any leaking gauge while it was stored at their Edison facility. He stated that they had never had any leaking gauge.

I requested that they send the information in writing and gave him the fax number. I reminded him that they must not store any licensed material at their new facility until they have received the amended license.
