Dear Mr. Wright

Union Carbide Chemicals and Plastics Company Inc. ("UCC&P"), a New York corporation that is the licensee under the above-referenced license, intends to effect a corporate realignment of its activities. This will result in a change in UCC&P's name to Union Carbide Corporation (the "new Union Carbide"). There will be no change in ownership or operational control of any of UCC&P's facilities, including the site subject to the above-referenced license.

Under this restructuring, Union Carbide Corporation (the "former Union Carbide"), the parent and sole shareholder of UCC&P, will merge into UCC&P. All beneficial owners of stock in the former Union Carbide will become beneficial owners of stock in UCC&P. Concurrently with the merger, UCC&P's name will be changed to Union Carbide Corporation (the "new Union Carbide"). The merger and name change are expected to take place around May 1, 1994.

As a result of this merger, and as indicated above, the corporate entity that owns and operates the plant with the above-referenced license remains the same and so we intend to continue to operate under the current license following the name change. If this understanding is incorrect, please notify the undersigned as soon as possible.

Yours truly,

Michael L. Green
Radiation Safety Officer
