Is the source holder to be shipped to anyone else prior to its arrival at the final possessor's address as listed above? If yes, we will contact you for that information so that we can include it in the required reports.

The NRC and many states require that we report to them any shipment of equipment to General Licensees. Your state may require you to report your possession of the equipment, and may require payment of a fee. We suggest you contact your state department of radiological health for information to avoid any violation of its regulations.
