Subject: Review of Camera-ready draft of Plant Vogtle EIS

I want to make sure that everyone understands the upcoming schedule for the Plant Vogtle EIS. We've got a lot of activities going on and I don't want Vogtle to fall off of everyone's radar.

The camera-ready version of the EIS will be available for the staff's review on Monday, August 13, 2007 on the EARRTH site. As of today, PNNL is on track to meet that date. If you do not have access to the EARRTH Site, let me or Cristina know ASAP and we'll get you hardcopies of your sections. If I do not hear from you, I will assume that you have access to the EARRTH site. I will provide more info on the location of the document on the EARRTH site as it becomes available.

I need everyone to review their sections and verify that PNNL incorporated all of the agreed-upon comments and revisions as soon as possible. This is not the time to re-write substantial portions of the text or make massive changes. That should have been done at the writing session in coordination with the PNNL authors. Pubs wants the clean version of the DEIS by August 17. That gives us five working days to get the thing turned around. So reviewing the camera-ready as soon as possible and getting me your comments is critical to meeting the schedule. I need everyone's review comments by noon on Wednesday, August 15. I realize that some of you are going to the Calvert Cliffs public meeting but I need your input to meet the schedule.

Please let me (or Butch, Richard, or Brent) know if you have any questions concerning this schedule.

Thanks for everyone's work and support at the writing session. From what I saw and heard, the document should be improved and more focused.

Mark
