AL DOMINICK Director of Business Development

October 18, 2007

Dr. Klein,

Monday's Wall Street Journal story about the "hitches" appearing in the NRC's process to license nuclear power plants caught my attention. While I regularly pass by your office on Rockville Pike, I had not considered how our work with the FCC (to arrange and process licenses) might be of benefit to you and your colleagues. After reading that article, I have spent the last few days reading and educating myself about the NRC. From what I have read, I believe our 10 years of experience dealing with similar licensing challenges at the FCC might prove helpful to the NRC.

While it might be premature to think that we could serve as a resource, I am interested to set up an exploratory/introductory conversation with you or someone on your staff. May I ask for your help in arranging such a conversation?

Best regards,
