Testimony for NRC Hearing on the Draft EIS for 2 New Reactors
at Georgia Power's Plant Vogtle
Waynesboro, GA,
October 4, 2007

Sir,

Our organization, Citizens for Nuclear Technology Awareness (CNTA) is the nation's largest grassroots organization for nuclear education and advocacy. We have about 2000 members and 35 corporate and business sponsors. We provide factual, objective input to nuclear issues.

We appear today in full support of the conclusion in the draft EIS that two more reactors can be added to the Vogtle site without significant environmental consequences.

Georgia Power, and their parent company, Southern Nuclear Operating Company, have a long and distinguished record of environmental responsibility at their sites.

Independent surveys have shown that the communities in which their plants are located, including Waynesboro, GA, have very high support and appreciation for their facilities and their company.

Georgia Power has been a good neighbor and fully deserves the overwhelming community support they have here.
