Hello Nancy,

I apologize for the delay. I had to research the history of the license regarding decommissioning activities. We are not currently engaged in any decommissioning activities under the SNM-1270 license. The license was amended in 2002 to allow us to ship fuel and material from decommissioning sites. We have no immediate plans to use the license for this purpose, therefore it can be removed the license. I am out of the office this week, but I am checking emails often.

Please contact me if you need additional information.

thanks

Latonya: Last week by telephone we discussed GE's possible "decommissioning activities" performed under the subject license. Is GE still engaged in these activities under this license, or should that particular purpose be deleted. Thanks for your response, Nancy Osgood
