Ann Marie,

I was unable to reach you on your office phone so I just wanted to tell you that Unit 1 is ramping back about 34-38 MW elec at this point.

This is because they are reducing their AMAG constant to 1. So this essentially puts them on the venturis.

This DOES have to do with the additional data just collected (finished yesterday evening I believe).

Stay tuned for further info. Engineering manager to brief me soon on implications if any.

Thanks,
Pete
