Subject: Nuclear waste

As a resident of Tennessee, I heard of the possibility that nuclear waste from a foreign country might be accepted in this country for processing and disposal. Regardless of whether it would be Tennessee or any other state, it seems to me to be a very bad policy to allow even the first instance of such a thing because of all the unknown possible future effects. Indeed, the difficulty of disposing of such waste might put the brakes on wholesale use of nuclear components here and around the world. While a limited amount of such waste may come from beneficial uses, we should reserve our disposal resources for our own waste.
