Subject: Monticello - Additional Question on the Recirc. Riser Diff. Pressure Amendment (TAC MD6864)

Rick:

Our review of your 9/25/07 amendment request is ongoing. One of our reviewers, Tony Nakanishi, has written a question. Please add this question to the other 3 that I have transmitted to you by my 3/18/08 e-mail (Accession No. 080790515):

The small break analysis was performed assuming an initial core flow of 100% of rated core flow. Top peaked power shape was explicitly assumed for this analysis. The large break analysis is based on previously performed analysis in GENE-J1103878-09-02P. Please justify, quantitatively, the effect of lower and higher initial core flows (i.e. MELLLA and ICF) in conjunction with the top peaked power shape on both small and large break LOCA?
