April 7, 2008

Mel Leach

Director, Division of Preparedness and Response
Office of Nuclear Security and Incident Response
U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission

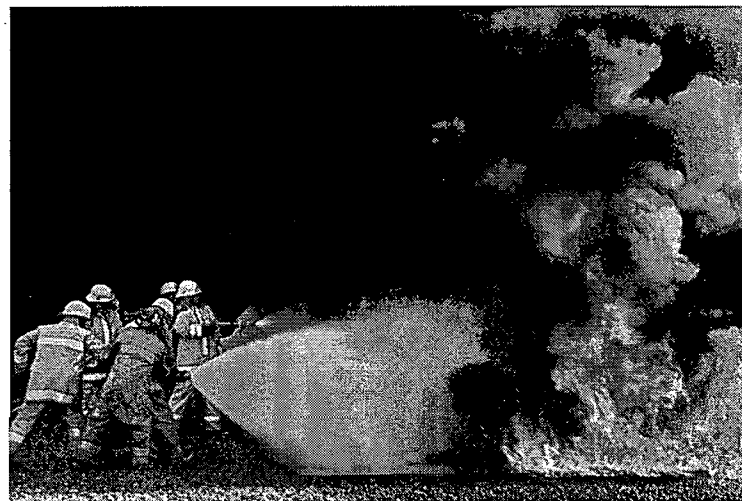

- Bulletin 2005-02 (July 2005)
 - [Commission expectation] Incorporation of hostile action (threat)-based scenarios into routine EP drill and exercise program
- Endorsed industry white paper outlining a phased approach:
 - Current Initiative: Each NPP site would conduct an “off-year” (non-evaluated) hostile action-based EP drill (currently thru CY 2009)
 - NEI 06-04 -- Proposed industry guidelines for the conduct of hostile action-based scenarios
 - CY2010 and beyond: Work with NRC/FEMA toward incorporating a hostile action-based scenario as part of a biennial exercise

■ Commission SRM (June 29, 2006)

“...coordinate with DHS to develop emergency planning exercise scenarios which would help avoid anticipatory responses associated with preconditioning of participants by incorporating a wide spectrum of releases (ranging from little or no release to a large release) and events, including security-based events...”

- Refocused efforts on broader picture

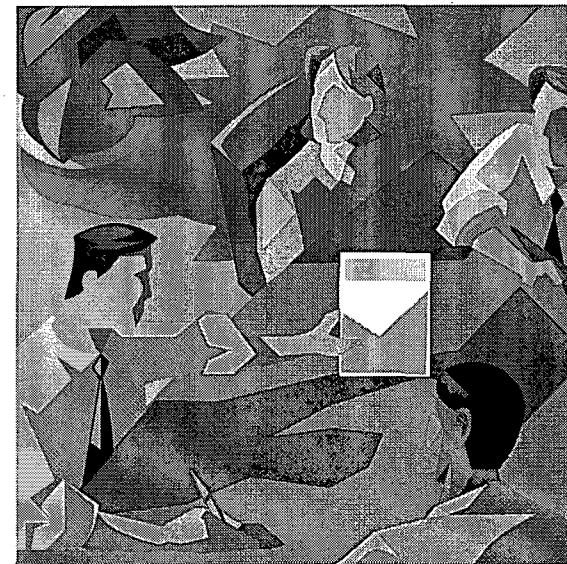

- NRC is working with stakeholders in support of the following parallel activities:
 - Conduct of “off-year” hostile action-based EP drills
 - Clarify unique challenges posed by hostile action events
 - Validate proposed industry guidelines (NEI 06-04)
 - Joint FEMA NRC task force to further define potential changes to EP regulations and guidance and facilitate engagement of stakeholders

Session Purpose

- Provide opportunity for engagement of State and local stakeholders by senior FEMA and NRC management
- Allow for discussion of significant lessons-learned from the development and conduct of recent hostile action-based EP drills
 - Focus on State and local perspectives
- Engage stakeholders on process moving forward regarding initial proposals for changes to exercise criteria.
