Joe--
I've attached a spreadsheet with the information from your previous email to Phil for your confirmation. Per our discussions with Eileen and Tom last week, this information will be very helpful for us. In addition, we would like to receive the SRP to Responsible NRO Review Branch alignment. As we discussed this morning, we are trying to learn from the experiences regarding RAI tracking and configuration control that resulted from previous ESP and Design Certification reviews. Our configuration control for the AP1000 DCWG will need to closely and efficiently track the RAIs, the responses and the involved industry and NRC participants. We appreciate the NRC identifying the Review Branch in the RAI as that information is valuable to us from both efficiency and configuration control perspectives. For the first draft RAIs we've received, the review branch is identified as the Component Integrity and Performance, and Testing Branch 1(CIB1). Since we are including this information in our tracking system, we would like to use the identified NRC tracking Acronym for that review branch. However, I can only locate the NRO divisions on the WebSite and cannot locate CIB1. Therefore, as you provide the SRP section to NRO Review Branch alignment, providing both the full branch name and the acronym, would be very useful.

Thanks,
Andrea
