Thank you Congressman Gordon for keeping me informed of issues affecting me as a Tennessean.
 I too am concerned about nuclear waste.

I hope that we can help other countries to process their waste, as other countries help us in many areas too.

Let's all work together to make everything cleaner.
 Daniel Winters

Bart chairs a committee hearing examining the challenges of E-waste.

The House Science and Technology Committee held a hearing April 30 to review the challenges facing the disposal and recycling of waste electronic equipment, or E-waste.

According to the Government Accountability Office, about 100 million TVs, computers and monitors become obsolete every year. While some materials in E-waste are potentially hazardous, others are quite valuable.

The committee plans further investigation on the issue to make recycling E-waste easier and more effective. To read more about the hearing, click here.

Women's Health Bill Passes House

Legislation I authored to improve analysis of tests for cervical cancer was approved by the House April 8. The bill aims to ensure health care professionals who read the tests, such as Pap tests, are skilled in today's medical technology. To read more about the bill, click here.

Nuke Waste Issue Heats Up

I am requesting congressional hearings on legislation I introduced to ban the importation of foreign nuclear waste into the United States. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is accepting public comments on a Utah-based company's application to import 20,000 tons of nuclear waste from Italy, process it in Tennessee and dispose the remainder in Utah. Comments can be sent through June 10 to hearingdocket@nrc.gov and should reference EnergySolutions Import License Application IW023.

Stay In Touch With E-News

Keeping in touch with Middle Tennesseans is the most important part of my job. Due to rules of the U.S. House of Representatives concerning communication during an election year, there will be a blackout period in which I will be limited in the ways I can communicate with you.

To keep receiving e-mail newsletters during the blackout period and stay informed on current issues before Congress, you will need to subscribe to receive my newsletter by visiting www.house.gov/bart and clicking the "Subscribe to E-News" button.
