On 06/11/07, at 1030, I spoke to the acting security manager at Peach Bottom Station. Random radio checks are conducted with all on-duty personnel in addition to the scheduled radio checks. The checks are conducted at the random intervals (give or take so that they are random) indicated in the licensee's response and are documented. The secondary alarm station operator conducts the checks.

Additionally, they conduct random "command" calls which require all seated security officers to stand for approximately two minutes.

This should provide enough information to close this allegation.
