Jonathan,
I'm going through the MOX processes I reviewed one by one, and it appears it will be next week before I get mine done. There are a lot of IROFS/sequences to go through. I think this is actually a useful exercise since it forces me to consolidate everything we have learned and look at the whole control strategy for the entire plant.

Craig,
I'll send you my input first next week, to see if you have any comments.

Chris
