I finally did receive the back log of all the emails you sent and resent yesterday. Very strange. Still don't have the Mr. Stillman draft email, but perhaps it, too, will show up later this morning.

I should finish the alternative site visit sometime this morning. It will then have to go through our review/clearance process before I can send it. So depending on reviewers availability, it may make it to you before the end of the day.

Nona,

Maybe it is just me. I would like to think I am special... See what you think.
