NRC INFORMATION NOTICE NO. 88-23, SUPPLEMENT 1: POTENTIAL FOR GAS BINDING OF HIGH-PRESSURE SAFETY INJECTION PUMPS DURING A LOSS-OF-COOLANT ACCIDENT

Addressees:

All holders of operating licenses or construction permits for pressurized water reactors (PWRs).

Purpose:

The purpose of this supplement is to alert addressees to additional potential problems resulting from transport and accumulation of gases in the piping of emergency core cooling systems. It is expected that recipients will review the information for applicability to their facilities and consider actions, as appropriate, to avoid similar problems. However, suggestions contained in this information notice do not constitute NRC requirements; therefore, no specific action or written response is required.

Description of Circumstances:

Both units at the Farley plant have dual purpose centrifugal charging and high pressure safety injection (HPSI) pumps and dual purpose residual heat removal (RHR) and low pressure safety injection (LPSI) pumps. After an event on February 26, 1988 at Unit 1 of the Farley plant, the licensee concluded that dissolved hydrogen from the volume control tank was coming out of solution in piping downstream from the tank. At a point in the system beneath the bottom of the volume control tank, some of the gaseous hydrogen came out of solution and accumulated at the highpoint in piping connected to the suction header for the three centrifugal charging pumps. That piping connects the discharge side of the LPSI pumps to the suction side of the HPSI pumps and is normally valved out of service. During a loss-of-coolant accident (LOCA), when the suction side of the LPSI pumps is transferred from the refueling water storage tank (RWST) to the containment sump, the piping is valved into service. If a LOCA had occurred before the problem was discovered approximately 50 standard cubic feet of hydrogen would have entered the portion of the suction header common to HPSI pumps A and B and possibly caused damage to the pumps due to gas binding. This event was discussed in NRC Information Notice No. 88-23 which was issued on May 12, 1988.

Each unit at the South Texas plant has separate HPSI and LPSI pumps in addition to centrifugal charging and RHR pumps. On May 13, 1988, the licensee reported the loss of suction to the centrifugal charging pumps for Unit 2 when suction was transferred from the volume control tank to the RWST. The piping from the nozzle at the bottom of the RWST to the suction header for the centrifugal charging pumps has two high points. The highest point is at approximately the same elevation as the midplane of the RWST and is approximately 12.5 feet above the nozzle. The suction header for the centrifugal charging pumps is 1.7 feet above the nozzle. The licensee concluded that the presence of low water level in the RWST at the time suction was transferred resulted in pressures less than atmospheric pressure at the high point and the subsequent release of dissolved air. In Mode 5, the technical specifications permit the water level in the RWST to be well below the midplane of the RWST. With low water level in the RWST, the licensee's ability to respond to a boron dilution accident could be impaired by the release of dissolved air and the potential air binding of the pumps.

Each unit at the North Anna and Surry plants has dual purpose centrifugal charging and HPSI pumps and dual purpose RHR and LPSI pumps. At North Anna, on October 14, 1988, the licensee found from 0.4 to 70 cubic feet of gas at atmospheric pressure in various runs of piping connecting the RWST to the HPSI pumps and in piping connecting the LPSI pumps to the HPSI pumps. The gas found in the piping in all cases was air, except in one piping run which contained 14% hydrogen. Similar problems were found at Surry on October 12, 1988.

No specific action or written response is required by this information notice. If you have any questions about this matter, please contact the technical contact listed below or the Regional Administrator of the appropriate regional office.
