IE INFORMATION NOTICE NO. 84-23: RESULTS OF THE NRC-SPONSORED QUALIFICATION
METHODOLOGY RESEARCH TEST ON ASCO SOLENOID
VALVES

Addressees:

All nuclear power reactor facilities holding an operating license (OL) or construction permit (CP).

Purpose:

This information notice is provided as an early notification of a potentially significant event concerning the failure of two naturally aged Automatic Switch Company (ASCO) solenoid valves. These valves are ASCO models NP-8316 and NP-8344. The failure of these two naturally aged valves occurred during the LOCA/MSLB (Loss-of-coolant accident/main steam line break) simulation phase of a qualification methodology research test conducted by the Franklin Research Center (FRC). It should be noted that this information notice is not addressing the earlier concerns dealing with the Viton/EPDM material used in ASCO solenoid valves as described in previously published information notices. It is expected that recipients will review the information for applicability to their facilities and take appropriate action. A response is not required.

Description of Circumstances:

Recently the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), Office of Nuclear Regulatory Research (RES) sponsored a qualification methodology research test on seven ASCO solenoid valves. The test program was developed by FRC for the NRC. This research test program resulted in a number of failures which had not been experienced in previous qualification tests performed by the manufacturer. The FRC test specimens consisted of seven different valve models, of which five valve models were artificially aged, and two valve models were naturally aged. The natural aging which was done by the manufacturer, consisted of exposing the two test valve models in an air oven at 140°F (60°C) for three years. The valves were pressurized with nitrogen and valve solenoids were continuously energized.

The test program was patterned after the requirements of IEEE 323-1974, 344-1975, 382-1980, and NUREG-0588, Rev. 1, with the exception that the two naturally aged valve models (model NP-8316-66E, and model NP-8344-A71E) were not exposed to radiation preaging. All seven valves were subject to DBA radiation followed by LOCA/MSLB simulation. The specified temperature/
