Manny, I'll have to talk to you about this. I have learned that like most things around here dealing with new reactors that it is not so straightforward. Falk

Subject: HARRIS KLD ETE STUDY

Manny:

Don Palmrose and I, in following up on a request for the KLD Evacuation Time Estimate (ETE) study that came up at the Harris meeting with local officials on June 9, have discovered that the KLD ETE study is NOT on the NRC public website for the Harris new reactor application. The KLD ETE study IS available on the public version of the Harris COLA CD. Don has checked ADAMS and found that the KLD ETE study is there but listed as non-publicly available.

I believe the KLD ETE study for Harris should be publicly available on the NRC new reactor website. I think the problem may be that the KLD ETE study is found under Supplemental Information in Part 5, Emergency Plan, of the Harris COLA. It appears that only the Emergency Plan itself is shown on the NRC public website.

Call me if you have any questions.
