Hi Roy,

I received your voice mail message of 12/02/08. Unfortunately you will not be able to reach me, for the rest of this week because I will be in training. However, I do come into the office early enough to check my voice mail and e-mails before heading out.
I'll be back in office 12/08 and 12/12.

My review of the above-referenced project has been intense, so I think I should be up-to-speed pretty soon to have a meaningful project update.

In the interest of time, I would like for you to check your calendar to see some possible dates for a site visit. Preferably in early spring (1st or 2nd week in April 2009).

Looking forward to working with you and all other stakeholders on this project.

Have a nice day.
