Dear Mr. Collins:

We recently received Amendment 17 to License Number 05-07157-02, Docket Number 030-11918, which was issued because of the change in our official mailing address. Unfortunately, we provided incorrect quantity information to your agency, resulting in an insufficient quantity limit for one source material in the license. This letter corrects that quantity and requests a revised amendment.

When he processed our official mailing address change, Mr. Torres, of your agency, telephoned our Radiation Safety Officer, Mr. Balzer, and discussed proposed quantity limits for the various source materials. Mr. Balzer inadvertently did not include in the discussed quantities two portable Chemical Agent Monitors that have been in storage awaiting disposition instructions from the Department of the Army. These monitors each have a Nickel-63 source with an activity level of 10 millicuries. We also possess two similar monitors that are still in active use. Therefore, we possess a total of four such devices. Please correct item 8.A. on Amendment 17 to change the quantity limit from "20 millicuries total" to "40 millicuries total." We plan to dispose of all four devices in the future.

Thank you for your assistance and cooperation. If additional information is required, please contact Mr. John Balzer at 303-289-0102.

Sincerely,

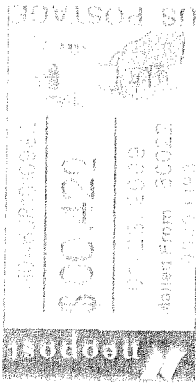

Charles T. Scharmann
