

Scientific Analysis/Calculation Error Resolution Document

QA: QA
Page 1 of 1

Complete only applicable items.

INITIATION

1. Originator: David Sassani	2. Date: 08/13/2008	3. ERD No. ANL-EBS-MD-000038 ERD 02
4. Document Identifier: ANL-EBS-MD-000038 REV 01 ERD 01	5. Document Title: Evaluation of Potential Impacts of Microbial Activity on Drift Chemistry

6. Description of and Justification for Change (Identify applicable CRs and TBVs):

Description:

This ERD corrects an error identified in CR-12031 as indicated in CA-002.

There is a note box on page 6 of the previous Error Resolution Document (ANL-EBS-MD-000038 ERD 01) that has incorrect text in it. This note reads incorrectly (see the italic, bold text – emphasis added) as follows:

General Note: The resolutions described herein are for the purpose of mitigating the conditions contained in the identified Condition Reports. They are hereby conveyed by this ERD, as a means to notify all users of ANL-EBS-MD-000027 REV 03 and subsequent ACNs, of additional data or information that augments the report and should be considered, by way of explanation, part of the report.

The correct AMR document identifier is “ANL-EBS-MD-000038 REV 01.”

The incorrect pointer to “ANL-EBS-MD-000027 REV 03” resulted from a cut-and-paste usage of the text box note from a different document. The previous ERD (ANL-EBS-MD-000038 ERD 01) contains the correct report number throughout it (except for the instance noted above), and this error was not contained in the parent report.

This ERD 02 corrects the error by removing the text box note entirely, as it is superfluous to the document. This does not impact any of the conclusions of the parent report, and because there is no usage by any downstream document of this note box, there are no impacts to any downstream document. Because this note box was not part of the parent report and is simply a statement of the purpose of the ERD, no downstream documents could have used it, and therefore none were examined directly.

Justification:

This correction is applied to a typographical error in an administrative note in the previous ERD by removing the note. This was not part of the parent report, has no impact on its conclusions, could not have been used by the downstream documents (all of which preceded this error), and therefore cannot impact any of the documents downstream of the parent report.

CONCURRENCE

	Printed Name	Signature	Date
7. Checker	Wendy A. Mitcheltree		8/13/08
8. QCS/QA Reviewer	Robert E. Spencer		8/13/08

APPROVAL

9. Originator	David C. Sassani		8/13/08
10. Responsible Manager	Jerry A. McNeish for		8/13/08