Gary Konwinski,

I am responding to your latest follow-up inquiry, which was recently received by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Public Document Room (NRC/PDR).

If this document were a publicly-available document, it exceeds the page length for which the PDR can photocopy and send either via FAX or US mail (107 pages; the estimated page count of "36" in the record's citation is incorrect). However, this document is a non-publicly available document; the report's microfiche isn't maintained by the PDR:

Using the ADAMS citation as a reference, you can submit a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to NRC's FOIA office to ask that the document be made available.
