We have confirmed that it should say "carbohydrazine" instead of either "carbohydrazide" or "carbohydride" and we will make this change in the next revision to the application. Let me know if you need more.

Thanks,

Eddie,

In section 10.4.7.2.1, BLN COL 10.4-2 of the FSAR, the staff believes you intended to say "carbohydrazide" instead of "carbohydride".

" The oxygen scavenger agent is hydrazine and the pH control agent is ammonia/monoethylamine. During shutdown conditions, carbohydride may be used in place of hydrazine "

Please confirm you can make this change in the next revision to the application
