Subject: Request for reference

Paul,

Regarding your request for "a reference to, or a copy of, the backfill specification," this is a licensee controlled document (proprietary). While I am not aware of myself having received a copy, our inspectors onsite have access to this document and are reviewing the document to support ongoing inspections. Inspectors would not typically retain such a licensee controlled document after the inspection is completed. As a licensee controlled document, I do not believe it is available as a publicly available reference.

As far as questions regarding the licensee's extent of the condition review and corrective actions, our reviews are ongoing and will be documented in future inspection reports.
