Statement of Work for Technical Assistance from Reeves & Associates

Background Information

The current request is for assistance to support the staff of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards (ACRS) on issues related to safety culture. The ACRS seeks to hold two days of staff working groups to discuss how internal safety culture affects external safety culture including possible adverse affects of internal safety culture on the accomplishment of the ACRS and NRC missions.

For these efforts, the ACRS would like to secure at least one internal safety culture expert and one facilitator for meetings to take place in late January at an off-site location.

Pursuant to the current ACRS contract for expert services, Reeves and Associates will be responsible for all staffing and logistics.

Prior to the working group, the expert(s) and facilitator(s) will review the ACRS Safety Culture survey outcomes as well all current topics of the ACRS subcommittee on Safety Culture. The ACRS management team will also provide the contractors with an overview of issues to be addressed at the meeting and any outstanding issues or concerns that may require further attention. Following the meeting, the contractor will provide follow-up details and will formulate an after-action report outlining the objectives of the project and outcomes of the working groups.

The working groups will take place on January 20th and 21st, 2010, at the Rockville Hilton at 1750 Rockville Pike, Rockville, MD 20852. Reeves and Associates will make all arrangements with the Rockville Hilton. The time required of the contractors includes preparation, actual working group time and follow-up consisting of approximately 40 hours per expert, plus travel. Also to be included are per participant costs related to holding the event off-site.
