NextEra Energy Point Beach, LLC (NextEra) submitted License Amendment Request (LAR) 241 (Reference 1) to the NRC pursuant to 10 CFR 50.90. The license amendment would revise the current licensing basis to implement the alternative source term (AST) through reanalysis of the radiological consequences of the Point Beach Nuclear Plant (PBNP) Final Safety Analysis Report (FSAR) Chapter 14 accidents.

Via Reference (2), NextEra made a Regulatory Commitment to submit revised Technical Specifications (TS) for the control room emergency filtration system (CREFS) by March 31, 2010, and to provide control room dose calculations based on better estimate assumptions with mitigating actions. NextEra has determined that additional time is needed to integrate joint industry and NRC guidance into the submittal. Therefore, the commitment date is changed to April 21, 2010.

Summary of Regulatory Commitments

The Regulatory Commitment contained in Reference (2) states:

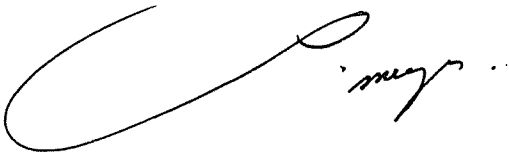

- By March 31, 2010, NextEra will submit a proposed revision of the Technical Specification (TS) for the control room emergency filtration system (CREFS), and will provide the results of control room (CR) dose calculations that are based on better estimate assumptions, including the effects of the use of mitigating actions with CREFS inoperable.

NextEra is modifying the Regulatory Commitment to state:

- By April 21, 2010, NextEra will submit a proposed revision of the Technical Specification (TS) for the control room emergency filtration system (CREFS), and will provide the results of control room (CR) dose calculations that are based on better estimate assumptions, including the effects of the use of mitigating actions with CREFS inoperable.

Very truly yours,
