I'll check with John, Doug and Scott on staffing the next two days. If they or their staff are out, I can take the lead on crafting the reply.

Phone call went well. We have four due-outs:

1. What standard did Exelon use to determine that they did not have to notify the NRC?
2. The number of such contaminations events on average per year?
3. The number of workers exposed in each event and the total numbers for the year 08?
4. The number of workers who reached the 2000 mrems/yr (08)?

Contact Amy Powell or Jenny Weil for more info.
