This is what I got from our Solid Waste folks:

"We do permit private industrial landfills for disposal of wastes generated by the operator only (such as an Oil & Gas operation). Otherwise, industrial wastes are going to a municipal landfill which is permitted to take non-haz industrial wastes."

Hope this information helps.

Thank you, Keith. But, what do industries like oil and gas do with their wastes (other than their household/MSW-type wastes)? Do they send them out-of-state? Thanks, again. Alan

Alan,

There is one commercial municipal waste landfill (and its service area isn't statewide), but there are no commercial industrial landfills.

Hope this information helps.

Are there any commercial landfills in WY? Thank you.
