General Comment

I am a Reactor Operator and I support the proposed changes to allow more flexibility. The quarterly change for computing the 54 hour average is easier to track and understand. The week before an outage rule change allow for JIT training to occur and allows for shift change adjustments prior to an outage so workers are not flipped from Days to nights or vice versa. I think the number one rule that promotes Fitness for duty is the 34 hours off per 9 days, this along with the old rules would have been enough in my opinion. Hope to see the changes soon.
