FYI gents. I called downstairs this morning as I hear rumors of more delays.

I did confirm from the CA note that we indicated the draft NUREG would be made publicly available by the end of this month, so I'll get back to you on where things stand with that as soon as I hear back from RES.

Thanks Greg. I do recall the Daily but was under the impression once the edits were made the TA would be informed prior to issuance of the draft. Not sure where I got that. It could be a misfired neuron due to two nights without power at home.

I'm working on getting in touch with RES on SOARCA and publication of the draft NUREG. You probably saw the Daily Note that came out a while back, which provided the ML number of the draft NUREG, but just in case you missed it it's been available internally at ML103010444 for the last few months.
