Jason,

The wording here is referring to the original DCD COL action item which required the applicant to provide the criticality analysis. That was replaced long ago by the UniStar topical report, and then later by the newer TransNuclear topical report. When the DCD began referencing the topical report, the COL action item went away.

As such, you are correct and CCNPP should revise their FSAR to say 9.1.1 is now incorporated by reference with no exceptions. Should I go ahead and submit that RAI?

Subject: Chapter 15, Group 1 comments and preparation for concurrence

Michelle and Chris:

We are preparing Calvert Chapter 15, Group 1 to go to OGC for concurrence / review. The file will be coming to the technical branches at the same time as OGC. I have attached the latest version that I have so you have a chance to look at it before it goes out for concurrence. If you notice anything you would like to change before concurrence, please track any changes to the attached document and let me know.

A file with tracked changes can be found in ADAMS ML090900255 if you need to see the changes to date.

Chris: I have copied you because in Section 15.10, we are still referencing the old spent fuel criticality analysis (UN-TR-08-001). I think we need to ask an RAI to have Unistar update their FSAR to reflect the changes made to the U.S. EPR DC and make it an open item in the SER. Let me know if you concur.

Thanks,

Jason
