On June 18, 1973, we forwarded to you a memo summarizing the extent of the modifications being made to the Kewaunee plant to protect against the effects of ruptures of high-energy lines outside containment. At the time, we reported that the applicant estimated that the total cost of the modifications would be on the order of 1.5 to 2.0 million dollars.

The licensing Project Manager was advised by the applicant on September 21, 1973, that the total direct cost of the modifications is 5.7 million dollars.
