This is the scope and schedule for completing a case study to determine the effectiveness of a smaller EPZ.

I also do not know how this gets formally communicated to SNL, but I will leave that up to the PM, if we are going to go forward.

Randy,

Attached is a breakdown of the level of effort we would need to model a sensitivity analysis for one scenario for Peach Bottom and one for Surry. I'm assuming it would be the same accident sequence we ran for the other sensitivity studies. This has been reviewed by Nate and Shawn, and Shawn agreed that having you route it up the NRC chain was a reasonable approach.

We are available to start as soon as a change is processed and funding is available. Please let me know if you have any questions or need any additional information regarding this effort.

Thanks Joe
