Thanks. My concern is that there is an expectation that certain things will get done, but there is no money to do it. I'm not sure expectations and reality are aligned.

Fyi

In response to your question on seismic and whether I talked to Rosemary. I have not directly and will catch up with her when I get back but for now we are working with her and Jon. We will come back to division management when we have some specific needs. Hope that answers for now. Thanks

Pat,

In regards to your question about Future seismic studies and SOARCA-

Rosemary and Jon Ake agreed to take a first stab at a SOW for future seismic research. It was also agreed that they would share this information with the SOARCA team as well as staff within DRA before moving forward with it. Jon Ake and I met and talked to Rosemary Hogan to cancel the previously planned meeting with our respective Division management because of the concern that there wasn't anything substantial to discuss with management.

Thanks,
