Dear Ms. Bladey,

I support the request by The University of Missouri, Columbia, MO for an indefinite extension to clean up the radioactive material that remains in Pickard Hall, which houses the MU Museum of Art and Archaeology. Since the NRC deemed the radiation dose stemming from the Nov. 17, 2009 inspections unarmful, I believe the radioactivity does not pose a significant risk to employees or the public. Thus, the expenditure to totally remediate the building far exceeds any potential benefit to the University, the general public or the community.

Sincerely,

Wynn Volkert
