Dear Mr. Klejst:

Thank you very much for your informative and interesting presentation last week at the Region II construction counterpart meeting. My staff thoroughly enjoyed your presentation on the San Bruno pipeline incident. Many of the staff especially appreciated your shared insights of how the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) functions in the response mode, within the inspection team as well as the interfaces with the varied stakeholders. We do not often get to understand the inner workings of investigative agencies with activities similar to our own. Your presentation was another example of how we can gain from each other as we continue to build on lessons learned from other industries.

The staff and managers also appreciated that you joined them during the informal gathering after the meeting. Your shared perspectives emphasized the parallels between the NRC and your agency. We appreciate the professional work conducted by the NTSB and the valuable insights that are relevant to other industries.

Sincerely,

/RA/
