Documents Title in ADAMS)

7/1/2011 13:45 I spoke with Paul Vorchick, Manager of Mine Safety who stated that I should speak with Mr. Richards who would not be in until Tuesday (7/5/2011).

7/6/2011 11:20 and 11:40 Mr. Richards and I exchanged voice-mail messages.

12:10 I explained to Mr. Richards that I was a member of the NARM Reconciliation Team and that the facility at Elk Creek showed up on the list provided to the NRC by the State of West Virginia. Mr. Richards consulted his records and was able to inform me that the plant had been idled in 1997. There was only one gauge on site, a KayRay/Sensall Model 7062BP containing 100 millicuries of Cesium-137. The gauge was last leak tested on September 12, 2008, and no signs of leakage were detected. The gauge was transferred to Thermo Fisher Scientific on September 12, 2008, for disposal and the company has a copy of a letter indicating the receipt of the gauge by Thermo dated October 13, 2008.
