STATEMENT OF WORK

STATEMENT OF WORK FOR SECOND TASK ORDER UNDER GSA FEDERAL SUPPLY SCHEDULE BLANKET PURCHASE AGREEMENT FOR SERIALS SUBSCRIPTION SERVICES FOR NRC TECHNICAL LIBRARY

1. General Information

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) Technical Library supports the mission and strategic goals of the agency. The NRC Technical Library provides resources and services for accurate, timely information, and document identification and retrieval. The staff of the Technical Library acquires, processes, and maintains collections of scientific and technical materials essential for the NRC's regulatory activities. Subscriptions to journals are required to provide current information and research in science and technologies that are integral to the technical review work performed by the staff.

The NRC Technical Library subscribes to approximately 300 journal titles each year in print version and also in electronic version. Most of these titles are core to the Library's journal collection, which is scientific in nature and includes titles published in English by domestic and foreign publishers. The Technical Library is located at NRC Headquarters in Rockville, Maryland, but serves the NRC staff in four Regional offices and the Technical Training Center in Tennessee. The Technical Library also assists other NRC offices in obtaining subscriptions (such as the Office of the General Counsel).

The purpose of this acquisition is to acquire subscription services for both the print version and the electronic version of journals that NRC requires from publishers worldwide. The services provided by the Contractor shall include all of the necessary tasks to order and manage new, and renewal, subscriptions with appropriate publishers for journals for the NRC Technical Library and NRC's other offices.

The tasks required to be performed by the Contractor fall into two critical areas:

1. Serving as the one point of contact (the Contractor) for the NRC for all matters relating to timely ordering and paying for print versions and electronic versions of journals required by the NRC Technical Library
2. Providing reports and other administrative support for serials management

The Contractor shall provide related subscription and shipping services, including licensing and access support for electronic journals, reports in electronic format, and access to Internet based interactive serials management system that allows searching, ordering, claiming of overdue, missing and damaged journal issues, renewing subscriptions, and generating reports based on the necessary data specific to NRC's account.

The period of performance is 1/1/2012 through 12/31/2012 for subscriptions that start later from the date of award of this order, the subscription period shall run for a full year unless it can be extended to coincide with the calendar year expiration cycle.

The required list of printed copy titles and a detailed list of ship-to addresses are included as Attachment A and Attachment 1.

NRC has a full time equivalent (FTE) of 2,246 technical staff at six (6) locations that may require electronic access to the journals listed in Attachment A.

2. Requirements

The Contractor shall provide all necessary facilities, supplies, and qualified personnel, except as specified or otherwise provided herein, to successfully perform all requirements stated herein. All subcontract negotiations, including, but not limited to license agreements, will be the sole responsibility of the Contractor since only the Contractor will have privity of contract with subcontractors (including publishers) from whom the orders are being placed.

3. Specific Tasks

A. Process, Maintain, and Manage, Subscription Orders and Renewals.

"Serial" means any publication issued in successive parts, usually (though not always) at regular intervals, and intended to be continued indefinitely. Serials include, but are not limited to, periodicals, magazines, journals, annuals, yearbooks, transactions, proceedings, and numbered monographic series. Serials may be published in any medium or format including electronic, print, microform, or other non-print media. Serials may be available for purchase (traditional print) or license (as with electronic journals).

"Subscription" means serial or periodical publication and related services. It also shall designate back issues of serials or periodical publications, if available from the publisher.

"Claim" means contacting the Contractor or publisher to request supply of a journal issue covered under an existing subscription, and the journal issue is overdue, missing, or damaged during shipping.

"ISSN" (International Standard Serial Number) is a unique eight-digit number used to identify a print or electronic serial publication. ISSN numbers are assigned to a serial publication by the ISSN National Centres and are registered in the ISSN Register available online at www.issn.org.
