Charlie,

This is your call. I've done all I can and I anticipate NSIR will move forward without your review. The options as I see it are (1) for you to not review by next Friday and be ok with the report going forward without your review, (2) give Syed key things to look for during his review that covers things you would be concerned about, (3) make time to review the report if you think it is higher priority to the agency than SOARCA uncertainty analysis.

Let me know what you decide and I will inform Trish.

If he reviews it, can Charlie review it quickly by next Friday to see if they've addressed his concerns.

Syed's review is in a different area. We can review it but we can't review whether the FBI addressed Charlie's concerns. You will still have to have his review at some point.

See the e-mail exchange below.

Please contact Trish Holahan in NSIR to discuss the topic and the scope of review to see if we can help.

Thanks
Stu

Kathy

The problem/issue is we got the report in on Tues and the FBI is very anxious to issue the report to their WMD coordinators. They have asked us to look at this report as well as some others and we don't want to miss this opportunity. They have given us what they believe is a reasonable period of time because we already looked at it once before. I understand the urgency of the SOARCA project from an agency perspective. Is there someone else in RES who can look at it - Jennifer had suggested the possibility of Syed Ali?

Thanks, Trish

Trish,

I'm sorry I wasn't able to call you today, but it was one of those meeting-to-meeting days. I anticipate you were calling about the schedule for Charlie's review of the revised FBI report. Originally we had a SOARCA related meeting scheduled for 9/22 that Charlie had to prepare for which made him unavailable to review your document until 9/23. However, the 9/22 meeting is being rescheduled. Charlie is not available to review the document next week, but he would be available to review it on the 20th. I believe you wanted the review by the 17th, but the best we can do is the 20th because of the priorities that we have for making our SOARCA due dates.

I hope Charlie's review on the 20th works for you.

Thanks,
Kathy
