The licensee is located in Pontiac, Michigan and is a distributor of smoke detectors containing Americium-241 (AM-241) source. The Licensee receives the smoke detectors containing AM-241 from its sister company in the United Kingdom and distributes the units to its customers based on demand.
Performance Observations
The licensee demonstrated and discussed how the smoke detectors are stored and accounted for in the inventory system. Interviews of the licensee's personnel indicated an adequate level of knowledge of radiation safety. The inspector was able to verify that each unit containing AM-241 was labeled in according with the licensee's license condition. The inspector took confirmatory survey and no radiation readings were above regulatory compliance limits. Licensee personnel are not required to wear dosimetry.
