My name is Charlotte Evans. My children and I have a ranch 4 miles north of Oshoto, Wyoming where the proposed Ross Facility, Strata Energy Inc.'s in-situ uranium recovery project is located.

My biggest concern is our water. I feel that our water will be permanently contaminated and our ranch will be worthless. Also the amount of water they will use in recovery. I just heard they are drilling a well in the Fox Hill formation and that is where all my wells are for our ranch's domestic use.

Concern number two is that they are not cementing the holes they have drilled so far but say they will--WILL THEY?

My feeling is that something will go wrong and Strata will pack up and return to Australia and leave a mess that will be impossible to clean up.

Thank you,

Charlotte Evans
